

Netstal Support Concept

Training Centre Netstal Singapore

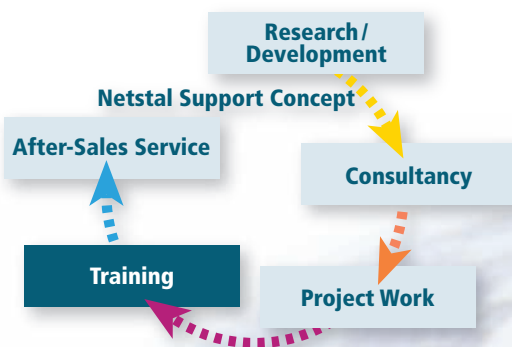

By the term "Netstal Support Concept" we mean the comprehensive service package which we offer our customers beyond the actual machine sale. We offer a comprehensive service from A to Z worldwide, starting from research and development over application technology consultancy right to after-sales and spare parts service as well as individual training.

In order to transfer our know-how and expertise to our esteemed customers, Netstal Singapore Pte. Ltd. maintains a Training Centre in Singapore to offer professional training for our existing and future customers in Asia.

Our generously laid out, well-lit theory training room is equipped with the latest infra-structure and offers interactive tuition possibilities.

We strongly recommend to all our esteemed customers to send their supervisors, machine operators and maintenance personnel for a training at our Training Centre in Singapore. For new customers prior to the installation of the machine and for existing customers to register on a update training on Maintenance and Diagnostics or on Production Optimization.

The customer will greatly benefit from such training courses because the better the maintenance and process optimization, the higher the uptime of the machine and the higher the yield of the products.
